Hell. Haile Madam, and my Queene.

Thai. I know you not.

Per. You have heard me say when I did flye from Tyre, I behind an ancient substitute; can you remember what I cald man, I have namde him oft.

Thai. Twas Hellicanus then.

Per. Still confirmation, embrace him deare Thaisa, this is h now doe I long to heare how you were found? how possi preserved? and who to thanke (besides the gods) for this gr miracle?

Thai. Lord Cerimon my Lord, this man through whom t gods shewne their power that can from first to last resolve y

Per. Reverent Sir the gods can have no mortall officer m like a god than you, will you diliver how this dead Queene lives?

Cer. I will my Lord, beseech you first goe with me unto m house, where shall be showne you all was found with her, ho she came plac'st here in the temple, no needfull thing omitte

Per. Pure Dian blesse thee for thy vision, and will offer nig oblations to thee; Thaisa this Prince, the faire betrothed o your daughter, shall marry her at Pentapolis, and now this orna ment that makes mee looke dismall, will I clip to forme, and what this foureteene yeares no razor toucht, to grace thy mar riage day, Ile beautifie.

Thai. Lord Cerimon hath letters of good credit, Sir, my father dead.

Per. Heavens make a star of him yet there my Queene, weele celebrate their Nuptials, and our selves will in that Kingdome spend our following dayes; our son and daughter shall in Tyre raigne.

Lord Cerimon, we doe our longing stay,
To heare the rest untold, Sir, lead's the way.

Exeunt omnes.

Enter Gower.

In Antiochus and his daughter, you have heard Of monstrous lust, the true and just reward:

In

In Pericles, his Queene and daug Although assaylde with Fortune Vertue preferd from fell de Led on by heaven, and crownd In Hellicanus may you well des A figure of truth, of faith of loy
In reverend Cerimon there well
The worth that learned charity a For wicked Cleon and his wif Had spread their cursed deed,
Of Pericles, to rage the City tur
That him and his they in his Pal
The gods for murder seemed so
To punish, although not done,
So, on your patience ev ermo
New joy waite on you, here

FIN

NATIONAL LIBRARY OF SCOTLAND